

A Decision You Made

Version A

Describe an important decision that you made.

You should say:

what the decision was

how you made your decision

what the results of the decision were

and explain why it was important.

Version B

Describe a good decision you or someone you know made.

You should say:

who made the decision

what the decision was

what the results of the decision were

and explain why you think it was a good decision.

Part 3

Decisions in General

- Who would you say is more likely to make bad decisions, men or women?

Decisions and Children

- In your country, who generally makes the important decisions concerning the education of children, their mother or their father?
- Do you think parents should always make decisions for their children (their sons and daughters)?
- What are some examples (or some kinds of) decisions that are difficult for children to make?
- At what age do you think children are suitable for making their own decisions?

Sources of Advice

- Do you think it's a good idea to listen to the advice of others before making an important decision?
- Would you say young people should seek advice before making an important decision?
- Who can people seek advice from?
- Do you think we can trust the advice of people we don't know?